DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Responsive to the Amendment received August 18, 2008. Claims 1-5 and 7 have been amended. Claims 8 and 10-12 remain withdrawn. Claims 1-7 remain pending further examination.

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101. Based on Supreme Court precedent and recent Federal Circuit decisions, a 35 U.S.C § 101 process must (1) be tied to a particular machine or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or materials) to a different state or thing. In re Bilski et al, 88 USPQ 2d 1385 CAFC (2008); Diamond v. Diehr, 450 U.S. 175, 184 (1981); Parker v. Flook, 437 U.S. 584, 588 n.9 (1978); Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 70 (1972); Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780,787-88 (1876).

An example of a method claim that would not qualify as a statutory process would be a claim that recited purely mental steps. Thus, to qualify as a § 101 statutory process, the claim should positively recite the particular machine to which it is tied, for example by identifying the apparatus that accomplishes the method steps, or positively recite the subject matter that is being transformed, for example by identifying the material that is being changed to a different state.

Here, applicant's method steps are not tied to a particular machine and do not perform a transformation. Thus, the claims are non-statutory.

The mere recitation of the machine in the preamble with an absence of a machine in the body of the claim fails to make the claim statutory under 35 USC 101. Note the Board of Patent

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by Montanari et al (US 5,478,990).

6. As per claim 1, Montanari et al teach method of tracking a production of a product materials in a plant that produces liquid foods (see at least column 16, lines 5-6), comprising:

allocating a unit identity to production units in the plant, the unit identity is registered and identifies the production unit as one of a source and a destination of material during production of the liquid food in the plant; allocating a first work identity to a material quantity of the material in the production; registering the first work identity; registering events in the plant with the first work identity of the material quantity of the material (quantity, see at last column 6, lines 18-20), wherein the event identifies a transport of at least a portion of the material quantity from a source production unit in the plant with reference to the unit identity allocated to the source production unit in the plant and/or to a destination production unit in the plant with reference to the unit identity allocated to the destination production unit in the plant (see at least fig 13, column 16, lines 7-18; containers); and displaying data associated with at least one event of a specific point in time based on the unit identity of a production unit and the first work identity of the material quantity (see at least column 17, lines 48-60).

7. As per claim 2, Montanari et al teach wherein the first work identity is registered in a specifically adapted database (see at least abstract; database).
8. As per claim 3, Montanari et al teach wherein the material quantity is determined by a certain material, by a certain volume of a material and/or a quantity (quantity, see at last column 6, lines 18-20).
9. As per claim 4, Montanari et al teach wherein the unit identity and first work identity include a number of figures, letters and/or a combination of figures and letters (see at least figs 1-2)).
10. As per claim 5, Montanari et al teach wherein the first work identity of a material quantity changes based on a registered event (see at least abstract, figs 10-14).

11. As per claim 6, Montanari et al teach wherein the registered events and a material flow in the plant are illustrated in a user interface using a tree structure (see at least figs 10-14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

12. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

13. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Montanari et al (US 5,478,990) in view of "Official Notice".

14. As per claim 7, Montanari et al teach fails to explicitly teach wherein a work identity of a material quantity includes washing of at least one of the production units, said second work identity of a material quantity having no source and no destination. However, "Official Notice" is taken that the washing of production units in a production chain is well known in the art. It would have therefore been obvious to include the washing of at least one production unit as one of the tracked processes in the system of Montanari et al because doing so would allow for Baird's system to track all processes in a production chain including the washing of a production unit since the chemicals used to wash the production unit might be of interest in situations where an end product is determined to be tainted. This event would not need a source or destination entry.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
